TWO KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION

INTENSIVE MANHUNT
STARTED FOR SLAYER
WHO MURDERED TWO

Two Radical Speakers
Slain; Resisted Ouster
Attempt

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—State, county and city police through entire tri-state district today joined in an intensive manhunt for Pietro Petretti, 35, who fled from the scene of a double slaying during a Sacco-Vanzetti anniversary demonstration at Avella, Washington County, last night.

George Harkoff, 35, of Cross Creek Twp., and Stephen Mina, 40, of Avella, who were said to have been making radical and inflammatory addresses to the impromptu gathering, were shot to death when a spattering of pistol fire burst suddenly from the jeering crowd.

Harkoff and Mina had mounted boxes to deliver their tirades, police say, and when Patrella joined in the boozing and catcalls from the crowd, the two speakers attempted to put him off the weather bureau.

During the heated quarrel that ensued, Patrella is alleged to have whipped out a pistol and fired three shots point blank at close range.

Both of the speakers slumped to the ground, instantly killed. All three of the shots took effect, Mina receiving a bullet in his heart and two of the leaden slugs tearing their way into Harkoff's head.

Before the assembled crowd, dumfounded with fear and horror, could recover from its confusion, Patrella is said to have slipped through the mob and made his escape. He was later traced to Brownstown, not far from the carnival grounds where the shooting occurred. Here, all trace was lost.

State and county police went to Patrella's home and conducted a search for the fleeing man. The search proved fruitless, so far as finding Patrella was concerned, but a quantity of alleged communistic literature, dynamite and blasting tools were confiscated, police reported.

Descriptions of Patrella were broadcast throughout Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia and police of the latter state were requested to be on the alert for his possible reappearance. Patrella was a former resident of West Virginia.

PEER IS DEAD

Duke of Northumberland Succumbs

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Duke of Northumberland, one of England's foremost titled figures, died Sunday following a relapse after protracted illness.

He was 50 years old, the eighth duke of his long and distinguished family line.

Born on April 17, 1880, he rose rapidly in army rank and in 1901 rendered distinguished service in the South African War and during the World War was attached to the British Egyptian forces.

As proprietor of the London Morning Post, he rendered notable leadership to the ranks of the Conservative extreme right wing known at the time of the "Die-Hards." He was president, also, of the Royal Institute of Great Britain.

Alnwick Castle, ancestral Northumberland home of the family, remains one of the landmarks of the country.

Records Left In North
Reveal Story Of Ill-
Fated Trip

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 23.—The suggestion that the government dispatches a cruiser to bring the bodies of the explorer Salomon-Auguste Andree and his two companions home from the icefields was offered today by Swedish newspapers.

Announcement that Dr. S. Horn and his exploring party had found the balloonists, who, thirty-three years ago, perished in their ill-starred venture to reach the north pole, created intense excitement in these regions. National honors will be accorded the discoverers of the bodies, it was indicated here in reports from Sweden.

Cooling showers in much of the drought belt, it was added, has somewhat reduced the menace of fire but the situation was termed "critical" in the extreme west. Special guards have been stationed throughout the national forests but the public was warned to guard against carelessness that might result in raging fires.

Riblet, 68-year-old bank guard who was shot July 16 in a $60,000 bank messenger robbery, attorneys for the man were making preparations to file a motion for a new trial.

Romeo was found guilty by a jury of six men and six women late yesterday on charges of shooting in perpetrating a robbery. The jury, which deliberated two hours and forty minutes, made no recommendation for mercy.

WEEK-END SHOWERS
WILL BRING RELIEF
FOR DROUGHT AREAS

Government Pushes Relief Measures; States
Busys

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A thin blanket of showers over the eastern half of the drought-stricken area, with scattered rainfall in the Middle West, will bring further relief to parched farms and sunbaked countrysides over the weekend, it was announced today by the weather bureau.

Governmental agencies meanwhile continued their efforts to provide relief for drought sufferers, particularly in the cattle country, pending launching of cooperative relief measures by the president's drought relief committee and various state organizations. Six states, Virginia, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana and Iowa, have already organized their local committees and are ready to cooperate with the government.

The financial conference, to be held here Tuesday, will release approximately $100,000,000 in credit facilities to aid farmers during the remainder of the current season and in preparing for next year. Credit facilities will be handled through local or state credit corporations and the federal intermediate credit banks.

Pending this relief, the department of commerce was cooperating with local associations in moving beef cattle from parched lands to good pastures and in arranging supplies of feed for cattle in dairy states. The department announced that several thousand carloads of hay were available for shipment in drought areas in the Central West. Good supplies of timothy hay were reported in New York, northern Ohio, northern Indiana and Michigan, with good supplies of alfalfa hay in Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico and Arizona. Prairie hay, it was said, can also be secured in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The federal farm board has turned over a $5,000,000 fund to the National Livestock Association to be used in financing purchases of cattle feed. Local farmers in need of feed have been urged to get in touch with their local livestock associations.

The menace of forest fires, which destroyed millions of dollars of property at the height of the drought has again caused the department of agriculture to issue a special warning, after revealing that new fires were costing the government $19,000 a day to combat in various sections.

Cooling showers in much of the drought belt, it was added, has somewhat reduced the menace of fire but the situation was termed "critical" in the extreme west.

Special guards have been stationed throughout the national forests but the public was warned to guard against carelessness that might result in raging fires.

BABE NEEDS MORE THAN HOOVER

FAT PEOPLE AND THOSE DOING MUSCULAR WORK—USE UP MORE ENERGY—THAN THIN PEOPLE AND THOSE WHO WORK AT DESKS

How much food does a man need? Dr. Logan Clendening, noted Diet and Health column writer, says it all depends on the kind of work you do. President Hoover, he explains, may labor many more hours than Babe Ruth but the Babe needs more energy because he does twenty times as much muscular work. Paul Whiteman and Rudy Vallee go through much the same motions in leading an orchestra, yet when the rotund Paul walks up a flight of stairs he has to make greater drains upon his supply of energy since he has almost twice as much weight to lift.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER'S CARE—Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows.—Matthew 10:29, 30, 31.

PROFITEERING

Authorities in New York state and city have taken prompt action to prevent profiteering in food supplies by dealers attempting to make money out of the drought scare. The price of milk in New York City was recently raised a cent a quart; and there was talk of the possibility of the "milk racket" boosting it another three cents. Vegetable and fruit prices were also showing a restlessness, which foreshadowed higher levels. The attorney-general's department has invoked the state law against unfair methods in restraint of trade in order to investigate the situation.

The temptation to seize upon the least excuse to profiteer at the expense of the public seems irresistible to a certain type of mind. The alarming stories circulated earlier this month, about the effect of the dry spell on crops and live stock in a dozen or so states, were enough to start the more selfishly inclined food dealers in parts of the country to scheming how they could turn the situation to their own profit. As a matter of fact much of the alarm felt a few weeks ago has since been dissipated by improved weather conditions and a more accurate knowledge of the exact amount of damage done. There has been a serious crop loss in some states and diminished pasture has reduced the production of milk; but nothing has happened, according to the latest reports from Washington, which need materially alter food prices in the cities.

Consequently the attempt of food dealers to raise prices on the strength of a fictitious scarcity, as they seem to have done in New York, cannot be condemned too severely or broken up too quickly, wherever it is made. This sort of profiteering, which hits the poor harder than it does the rich, would be despicable enough at any time. At a time when unemployment is widespread and money tight, what at other times is merely selfish becomes brutal and inhuman.

IS JAZZ DOOMED?

Jazz steps are doomed, we are told by the president of the Dancing Masters of America, assembled in New York. Youth is tripping back to the classic and conservative in foot movements. Accompanying a revival of Victorian frocks and furbelows, "a more restrained expression of the musical soul" of young America may be looked for on the ballroom floor of the future.

The prediction seems too good to be true. Any radical revolution in dancing styles must be preceded by something more fundamental than the dictum of dancing masters. They themselves are only the servants of popular whims. A people's dances are means of expressing the soul of the country and age in which it lives. The soul must change before the dances do. As long as we have jazz music, jazz drinking, jazz literature, jazz politics, jazz thinking, jazz speculating in the stock market, we shall have jazz dancing, which is merely the jazz spirit breaking out at the ankle. A malignant corn is as easily exorcised as the tickling aroused by jungle tom-toms in the feet of an undisciplined and iconoclastic generation.

Jazz dances, which are not true dances at all, are not to be condemned on the ground that they are demoralizing in the narrow and etymological sense of the word. They are no more "immoral" than some of the conservative dances. The real objection to them is that they are for the most part unesthetic and ugly and consequently fall short of that beauty of expression which is the sine qua non of the terpsichorean art. They are the product of an age that demands something that is new, whether it is beautiful or not. A revival of the stately dances of the past would proclaim the reversion of dancing America to a rational civilization, which we hope for in the future but do not yet see "just around the corner."

JUST A COLLEGE

Too bad that a college which is nothing but a seat of learning has to perish. Attention is called to the passing of Ewing College near Benton, Ill. The whole plant was recently offered for sale for $20,000, but there were no buyers. It was once advertised as "a place where students are not surrounded with distraction, temptation and vices." It never had more than 140 students. Perhaps there wasn't enough attention given to football. Perhaps there was nothing but the facilities for study. It had to go.

PRAYING WRONG

Much talk in the pulpit about the value of prayer, and not enough instruction in the manner of praying. Too many people pray to have the laws of nature and the moral laws set aside for their benefit. They won't want to pay the price. No one can escape the penalty for his acts, in some fashion or other, no matter how much he prays. Natural law is natural law and you can't get away from it.

LITTLE LIVES

Most of us live little, narrow, restricted lives. It is good to have our horizons pushed down sometimes. It is good to have somebody make us think in large terms. Says L. P. Jacks, able English teacher and preacher: "Nothing too bad to be incurable, nothing too good to be hoped for, nothing too high to be attempted, nothing so precious that we cannot afford to give it away."

WATCH THE CHINESE

Don't ever underestimate the Chinese. They are a powerful people. They move slowly; they never let up; they go far. Riley Allen, Honolulu newspaper man, tells us that in Hawaii the Chinese are "active and useful in civic affairs. In philanthropy they are generous givers." In architecture and engineering they are leaders. In athletics they produce the best baseball teams in the islands. In war they are brave.

BOYS AND HOUSEWORK

The new Abraham Lincoln high school in New York will give boys as well as girls training in household duties. Boys will be taught how to run vacuum cleaners and washing machines. Quite right. No man can be a good husband who doesn't know at least the rudiments of housekeeping. Too many husbands' ideas of housekeeping are restricted to skill in piling dirty dishes in the corner of the kitchen sink.

496,507,424,771,973,884,000.

World Religions

What religion has the most followers or believers?

Christianity including Catholics, has 682,400,000 members, divided into 331,500,000 Roman Catholics, 144,000,000 Orthodox Catholics and 206,900,000 Protestants; Confucianists and Taoists have 350,800,000.

Does the physical size of the heart have any relation to physical courage?

The lion has the smallest heart of all predatory animals. Philip II of Spain, one of the most cowardly tyrants in history, had the largest heart of any known man.

"Yes. The Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers of America, located at 1501 Broadway, New York City, has brought about a pooling of the copyrights on most published music. This society collects from radio stations for the authors, composers and publishers.

NEW YORK.—Back in 1880—the year H. L. Mencken was born—New York discovered that Raymond street jail was unfit for use. The Mayor and his counsellors in those days said: "Something will have to be done about it."

Time rolled its ceaseless course. A half century slid down the Greased Chute that leads to Avenue Raymond Street jail still exists, a crumbling, nasty, grim, degenerate pile. At the City Hall today they say: "Something will have to be done about it."

DERELICTS' PARADISE

IN NEW YORK, snoozing in the parks is verboten. It isn't a pretty sight to see a bunch of bums snoring away their existence in soul-clogging oblivion.

But when the weather gets very hot, the no-sleeping edict is brushed aside in favor of the denizens of Tenement Town. With the thermometer flirting around the century mark, sleep is impossible in these hell-holes.

The trouble is that when the men, women and kids from the tenements go trooping across to the parks they find the lawns preempted by the Weary Willies of the lodging houses.

Most of them spread newspapers to lie on. In the heat-haze of early morning they awake, stumble weakly to their feet, miserable and disheveled, to panhandle breakfasts in greasy Coffee Pots.

Not one of them ever thinks of relieving the lawn of the newspapers he's lain on all night. Suppose the scattered sheets do mar the contour of the lawns? They've finished with 'em for the time being. It's none of their funeral. That's the sort of mental twist that chains these men to the ranks of the Derelicts.

This is very nice and broad-minded in Senator Fess—and

PECULIAR NEBRASKA ELECTION CONTEST IS FORECAST ON THE SENATORIAL ISSUE

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Nebraska will have a peculiar election next November on the senatorial issue, that is to say, as to the remainder of the offices to be filled it may be normal enough.

For senator, however, indications are that "Uncle" George W. Norris, running for re-election on the Republican ticket, will have the strongest appeal to Democrats who voted for Al Smith in 1928, while from all appearances Gilbert M. Hitchcock, the Democratic nominee, will get his best backing from the state's regular Republicans—due emphasis being placed on the adjective "regular."

It is not quite as funny a situation as it would have been if the Democrats had nominated Dr. Jennie Callas, who bolted the Smith ticket two years ago, even as Uncle George bolted Herbert Hoover, but it is queer just the same.

AT ANY RATE Senator Fess cannot compel Nebraska's stand-pat Republicans to vote for Uncle George, and from what they whisper to me, the impression

I get is that quite a lot of them show symptoms of casting their ballots for ex-Senator Hitchcock instead.

The idea, as explained to me, is that Senator Norris' defeat, even by an unsatisfactory Democrat, would be a body blow at "radicalism," probably in both parties, scaring the daylights out of that kind of senators and representatives generally, and thus strengthening the conservatives' position in the long run, regardless of the individual candidate who might surprise me. It would profit by it temporarily.

On the other hand, Nebraska is a notoriously rambunctious state.

Senator Bingham or Senator Smoot or Senator Shortridge (who are not up for re-election this year and could spare the time if the regulars consider out-and-out independence and perhaps a full they wished) seize the opportunity to stump Nebraska for Uncle George—telling the voters how much the administration thinks of him, how warmly it approves of his Muscle Shoals views and how disappointed it will be unless he wins him six more years in Washington.

IT is all in, it looks as if the cornhusker voters will have a fine time sorting themselves out nine or ten weeks hence.

Mexican Beef Roll

Creamed Celery Cabbage Salad

Apple Pancakes Coffee

This meal roll combines the elements of the usual meat and potatoe and is a change from them, and a savory one at that. Apple pie might be substituted for the pancakes, so that the oven could be used for both. Celery, especially the outer stalks, are apt to be a bit tough these days, so boil them until tender, then cream. They are healthful and delicious.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Mexican Beef Roll—Boil one-half cup rice, drain and add one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon chili powder, one teaspoon poultry seasoning, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one finely minced onion, one finely minced green pepper. Spread evenly over one and one-half pounds round steak, cut very thin, and roll up like a thick jelly roll. Tie and skewer firmly in place, dust with flour and brown well on all sides in some drippings in a skillet. Remove to a baking dish, pour over two and one-half cups tomatoes, cover and bake until tender in a slow oven, 350 degrees, about one and one-half hours, remove strings and serve cut in slices, with the tomatoes.

Apple Pancakes—For the apple pancakes, merely add chopped apples to the basic griddle cake batter and fry slowly on a hot greased griddle. Spread each one as cooked with softened butter, and dust with shaved maple sugar and ground cinnamon.

SUGGESTIONS

Spicy Meat Loaf—Two pounds beef ground, three-fourths cup salt, ground, two small onions, two cups bread crumbs, one tablespoon salt, one tablespoon Worcester sauce, two eggs, one-fourth cup horseradish, one teaspoon dried mustard, one-fourth cup chopped green pepper, one cup meat stock, three-fourths cup tomato catsup. Mix ingredients together in order named, except the catsup. Shape into a loaf, place in a greased pan, pour catsup over the top and bake in a hot oven 400 degrees Fahrenheit for 45 minutes. This meat is delicious served either hot or cold. If served cold surround with potato salad in lettuce cups.

Buttering Sandwiches—Cream the butter or margarine thoroughly before spreading the bread for sandwiches. It will not only go farther, but will not tear the slices of bread.

Changing Positions Aids Sleep

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Many medical authorities instruct their patients to sleep on the back, others on the right side. A great many of them say that sleeping on the left side is dangerous—that it interferes with the action of the heart, and favors a very slow emptying of the stomach.

"Lie flat, sit straight, stand tall." That is what a United States army medical bulletin tells the soldiers. "Never curl up and buckle in the middle."

"Never forget that the best way to use the body for all purposes is as it were stretched up as tall as possible."

So say some other admonitions of Uncle Sam to his soldiers.

Recent investigations have shown, however, that advice on the subject is not very useful. Drs. Johnson, Swan and Welgand at the Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh, have arranged an ingenious device which takes a kind of moving picture reel of sleepers. It does not take a continuous film all through the night, but takes a photograph every time the person under observation moves.

Thus all "t" changes in the body during slumber are recorded on a short film. They took photographs of 112 people in this way.

It turns out that nobody stays in any one position all night. It is useless to tell a person to sleep on the back or right side because they do not stay that way. The subjects observed changed on the average of 36 times during the night from 11:30 to 7:45 in the morning.

They were on the back, right and

GEYER PLAYER WINS BATTING HONORS OF YEAR; BOASTS .513

Davis Runner-Up; Bob Yeakley Has Most Home Runs

The Softball Commission wishes it clearly understood that women and also children of high school age and under are exempt from the admission of ten cents to be charged for each game of the post-season series between a newly selected all-star team and the winner of the city series between the Lang Chevrolets and Krippendorf.

The city series starts Monday night and will be a two-out-of-three game affair, while the post-season series of the best three out of five games will start next Friday.

No admission will of course be charged for the Lang-Krippendorf games.

Paul Boxwell, pitcher for Geyers, led the National League in batting last season with an average of .472, wound up in eighth place this year with a mark of .433. "Speed" Leopard, member of the same team, this year's batting champ, pounded the ball at a .377 rate in 1929.

A marked upward trend in the power of the batter in the National League is given striking evidence in the 1930 records. The batters certainly asserted themselves this season. Last year there were only three batters in the .400 class and twenty-three above the .300 mark.

This season, not only did two batters boast averages better than .500, but there were eleven .400+ hitters and twenty-one in the .300 classification.

The six teams composing the National League knocked a grand total of 171 doubles, forty-one triples and sixty-eight home runs during the 1930 campaign.

Langs led in two-baggers with fifty-seven, while Geyers showed the way in triples with ten and in homers with twenty.

Langs made fifty-seven doubles, nine triples and seventeen homers; Geyers gathered thirty-six doubles, ten triples and twenty of the four-base blows; the Down County Club obtained twenty-five two-baggers, eight three-baggers and seven circuit clouts; Graham Paints—twenty-one doubles, four triples and fifteen homers; Carroll-Binder—thirteen doubles, four triples and four homers; Criterion—nineteen doubles, six triples and five home runs.

Maurice Hyman, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hyman, E. Market St., is probably the most enthusiastic collector of clippings and other things pertaining to sports around these parts. His collection includes the football used in a Ohio State-Michigan game some years ago, a program autographed by Babe Ruth himself, and even a newspaper clipping of the final game of the 1919 World's Series won by the Cincinnati Reds. He pastes his articles up in his room. Returning Thursday from a trip to Chicago, he brought with him a new addition to his collection which he prizes. During the course of one of the games of the crucial Brooklyn-Chicago baseball series, he awoke next to the Brooklyn dugout and got Dazzy Vance and Adolph Luque to write their signatures of his scorecard.

The Idle Hour Club's crack colored softball team's claim to the city championship would be entitled to consideration, in the event it should play and defeat the champion of Xenia's two softball leagues, if it were not for one thing. At least three regular players on the team, Bradshaw, Fields and Shepard, are imported from Dayton, whereas a team in order to have a just claim to a Xenia title should be composed exclusively of players who live here. As the team is now composed, there is not much doubt, those who have seen it play tell us, that it exhibits just about the classiest brand of all on display in this neck of the woods.

Steve Phillips, the recent bridegroom and popular Xenia starting judge, has been handling the harness meet at the Logan County Fair at Bellefontaine this week.

BELLBROOK

Contractor Ralph Hopkins is doing carpenter and cement work on the Fogarty farm.

Ruben Webb, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, is reported some better.

A miniature golf course has been constructed on the Magnetic Grounds.

O. A. Berryhill is able to be out again.

Jesse Weaver was the first to harvest any tobacco. He has shed a part of his crop.

Harry Higgins, of Xenia, was a political visitor in town one day of the last week.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER'S CARE—Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows.—Matthew 10:29, 30, 31.

PROFITEERING

Authorities in New York state and city have taken prompt action to prevent profiteering in food supplies by dealers attempting to make money out of the drought scare. The price of milk in New York City was recently raised a cent a quart; and there was talk of the possibility of the "milk racket" boosting it another three cents. Vegetable and fruit prices were also showing a restlessness, which foreshadowed higher levels. The attorney-general's department has invoked the state law against unfair methods in restraint of trade in order to investigate the situation.

The temptation to seize upon the least excuse to profiteer at the expense of the public seems irresistible to a certain type of mind. The alarming stories circulated earlier this month, about the effect of the dry spell on crops and live stock in a dozen or so states, were enough to start the more selfishly inclined food dealers in parts of the country to scheming how they could turn the situation to their own profit. As a matter of fact much of the alarm felt a few weeks ago has since been dissipated by improved weather conditions and a more accurate knowledge of the exact amount of damage done. There has been a serious crop loss in some states and diminished pasture has reduced the production of milk; but nothing has happened, according to the latest reports from Washington, which need materially alter food prices in the cities.

Consequently the attempt of food dealers to raise prices on the strength of a fictitious scarcity, as they seem to have done in New York, cannot be condemned too severely or broken up too quickly, wherever it is made. This sort of profiteering, which hits the poor harder than it does the rich, would be despicable enough at any time. At a time when unemployment is widespread and money tight, what at other times is merely selfish becomes brutal and inhuman.

IS JAZZ DOOMED?

Jazz steps are doomed, we are told by the president of the Dancing Masters of America, assembled in New York. Youth is tripping back to the classic and conservative in foot movements. Accompanying a revival of Victorian frills and furbelows, "a more restrained expression of the musical soul" of young America may be looked for on the ballroom floor of the future.

The prediction seems too good to be true. Any radical revolution in dancing styles must be preceded by something more fundamental than the dictum of dancing masters. They themselves are only the servants of popular whims. A people's dances are means of expressing the soul of the country and age in which it lives. The soul must change before the dances do. As long as we have jazz music, jazz drinking, jazz literature, jazz politics, jazz thinking, jazz speculating in the stock market, we shall have jazz dancing, which is merely the jazz spirit breaking out at the ankle. A malignant corn is as easily exorcised as the tickling aroused by jungle tom-toms in the feet of an undisciplined and iconoclastic generation.

Jazz dances, which are not true dances at all, are not to be condemned on the ground that they are demoralizing in the narrow and etymological sense of the word. They are no more "immoral" than some of the conservative dances. The real objection to them is that they are for the most part unesthetic and ugly and consequently fall short of that beauty of expression which is the sine qua non of the terpsichorean art. They are the product of an age that demands something that is new, whether it is beautiful or not. A revival of the stately dances of the past would proclaim the reversion of dancing America to a rational civilization, which we hope for in the future but do not yet see "just around the corner."

JUST A COLLEGE

Too bad that a college which is nothing but a seat of learning has to perish. Attention is called to the passing of Ewing College near Benton, Ill. The whole plant was recently offered for sale for $20,000, but there were no buyers. It was once advertised as "a place where students are not surrounded with distraction, temptation and vices." It never had more than 140 students. Perhaps there wasn't enough attention given to football. Perhaps there was nothing but the facilities for study. It had to go.

PRAYING WRONG

Much talk in the pulpit about the value of prayer, and not enough in the manner of praying. Too many people pray to have the laws of nature and the moral laws set aside for their benefit. They won't want to pay the price. No one can escape the penalty for his acts, in some fashion or other, no matter how much he prays. Natural law is natural law and you can't get away from it.

The new Abraham Lincoln high school in New York will give boys as well as girls training in household duties. Boys will be taught how to run vacuum cleaners and washing machines. Quite right. No man can be a good husband who doesn't know at least the rudiments of housekeeping. Too many husbands' ideas of housekeeping are restricted to skill in piling dirty dishes in the corner of the kitchen sink.

NEW YORK.—Back in 1880—the year H. L. Mencken was born—New York discovered that Raymond street jail was unfit for use. The Mayor and his counsellors in those days said: "Something will have to be done about it."

Time rolled its ceaseless course. A half century slid down the Greased Chute that leads to Avernum. Raymond Street jail still exists, a crumbling nasty, grim, degenerate pile. At the City Hall today they say: "Something will have to be done about it."

DERELICTS' PARADISE

IN NEW YORK, snoozing in the parks is verboten. It isn't a pretty sight to see a bunch of bums snoring away their existence in soul-clogging oblivion.

But when the weather gets very hot, the no-sleeping edict is brushed aside in favor of the denizens of Tenement Town. With the thermometer flirting around the century mark, sleep is impossible in these hell-holes.

The trouble is that when the men, women and kids from the tenements go trooping across to the parks they find the lawns preempted by the Weary Willies of the lodging houses.

Most of them spread newspapers to lie on. In the haze of early morning they awake, stumble wearily to their feet, miserable and disheveled, to panhandle breakfasts in greasy Coffee Pots.

Not one of them ever thinks of relieving the lawn of the newspapers he's lain on all night. Suppose the scattered sheets do mar the contour of the lawns? They've finished with 'em for the time being. It's none of their funeral. That's the sort of mental twist that chains these men to the ranks of the Derelicts.

THE HEAD THAT WEARS THE CROWN,—1930

PECULIAR NEBRASKA ELECTION CONTEST IS FORECAST ON THE SENATORIAL ISSUE

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Nebraska will have a peculiar election next November on the senatorial issue, that is to say, as to the remainder of the offices to be filled it may be normal enough.

For senator, however, indications are that "Uncle" George W. Norris, running for re-election on the Republican ticket, will have the strongest appeal to Democrats who voted for Al Smith in 1928, while from all appearances Gilbert M. Hitchcock, the Democratic nominee, will get his best backing from the state's regular Republicans—due emphasis being placed on the adjective "regular."

It is not quite as funny a situation as it would have been if the Democrats had nominated Dr. Jennie Callias, who bolted the Smith ticket two years ago, even as Uncle George bolted Herbert Hoover, but it is queer just the same.

(The idea, as explained to me, is that Senator Norris' defeat, even by an unsatisfactory Democrat, would be a body blow at "radicalism," probably in both parties, scaring the daylights out of that kind of senators and representatives generally, and thus strengthening the conservatives' position in the long run, regardless of the individual candidate who might be elected.

AT ANY RATE Senator Fess cannot compel Nebraska's stand-pat Republicans to vote for Uncle George, and from what they whisper to me, the impression I get is that quite a lot of them show symptoms of casting their ballots for ex-Senator Hitchcock instead.

(The idea, as explained to me, is that Senator Norris' defeat, even by an unsatisfactory Democrat, would be a body blow at "radicalism," probably in both parties, scaring the daylights out of that kind of senators and representatives generally, and thus strengthening the conservatives' position in the long run, regardless of the individual candidate who might be elected.

Even if they think they have things worked out so harmony will result, the families are apt to make trouble for them.

I advise your friends to continue apart for as long as possible and see if they cannot break their attachment. If they can't, and decide they must marry, they had better make an agreement either for one to give up and join the other's church, or to decide very firmly that each will say nothing but good, and see nothing but good, in the other's faith, and that when the children come they will agree to which church they shall belong.

This meat roll combines the elements of the usual meat and potatoes and is a change from them, and a savory one at that. ## THE SENTINEL'S CHALLENGE

Busy peered up at a daisy clock hanging on the wall.

"Goodness gracious me," said she.

"Here it is, well on toward forenoon. And we've done nothing, you and I, but gossip. We hurried back to pick up some eggs and we've not even gone to the nurseries. By the way, boy, the nurseries are upstairs, at least in the daytime. We carry the eggs up there every morning so that the bright sun may shine upon them and warm them up. And every night we tote the eggs back to the underground rooms so that they will not be chilled by the cool air of evening. To reach the nurseries we shall have to climb a steep grade. We're at the corridor entrance this minute."

The narrow passage which the two now entered was as dark as the entrance hall had been, and although there were no steps, at once the boy felt he was going up, up! He felt the air growing warmer.

"How far do we walk in darkness?" asked Peter, who could not just wait and see. Before Busy could reply a harsh voice cried:

"Halt! Who goes there?" Peter gasped with fright and stood stock still, his eyes trying to pierce the gloom. But Busy didn't just wait and see. Instead, she replied promptly:

"Two friends!" "Advance and give the counter-sign!" came the stern order.

"Moving day!" cried Busy.

"Right. Forward march!" Now the voice was more friendly. Peter felt better. Then he felt worse. A shiver ran up and down his spine. Something was tickling him on the face, the neck. It felt like long, slender fingers. Peter gasped.

"Two friends!" "Advance and give the counter-sign!" came the stern order.

"Speed" Leopard Leading Softball Hitter

GEYER PLAYER WINS BATTING HONORS OF YEAR; BOASTS .513

Davis Runner-Up; Bob Yeakley Has Most Home Runs

Walter "Speed" Leopard, member of Geyers, is the 1930 batting champion of the National Softball League with the extraordinarily high average of .515, complete averages for the season disclose.

"Speed" was officially at bat thirty-seven times, scored fifteen runs and rapped out nineteen hits. During the current season he caught behind the plate at times, pitched at times and played first base at times. He even gave up playing altogether for a while and turned umpire, later rejoining Geyers and finishing the season.

"Happy" Davis, alternate first baseman for the champion Lang Chevrolets, was runnerup for batting honors with a mark of .500, and Leopard being the only two players who wound up in the .500 percentage classification.

A grand total of thirty-four players had seasonal averages above the .300 mark, based on the ruling of the softball commission that only the averages of those players who had at least bat officially at least twenty-five times, need be computed in the final standing.

Whether it was the atmosphere or a preponderance of good batters, it is worthy of note that the averages were a great deal higher than was the case last season.

In the two-base hit column, Lee Ruse, third-baseman for Langs, was far and away ahead of all others, made home runs his specialty.

As is often the case, there were far fewer triples than doubles and homers. In fact, Harry "Atlas" Smith, first basemay for the Criterion, led in this department with only four three-baggers.

Bob Yeakley, outfielder for Geyers, made home runs his specialty and topped the league in this division with six circuit clouts.

Joe Smittle, second baseman for Langs, and Fred "Bulldog" Smith, third baseman for Geyers, shared honors as the most consistent scorers, each crossing the plate twenty-nine times. Smittle was officially at bat seventy-three times, more than any other player, and also made the most hits, thirty-two, followed by "Bulldog" with thirty-one binges. Joe was also runner up to his teammate, Ruse, in doubles, with ten, and was second only to Yeakley in home runs, with five.

Figures on team batting averages must be inaccurate at best because the players were constantly shifting around from one team to another and their averages shifted with them. Transfer of a player sometimes elevated and sometimes lowered the team average of the club with which he affiliated himself.

Geyers was the hardest hitting team in the league with an average of .389 based on 577 times at bat and 225 hits, followed by Langs, the league champion, with a mark of .347, based on 641 times at bat and 223 hits. The disparity, however, was not as great as it sounds and the champs played better defensive ball.

Carroll-Binder's team average was .301, followed by the Graham Paints with .291, D. T. C. Club with .277 and Criterion with .269.

BOY SCOUT PROGRAM WILL BE SELECTED AT CAMP SESSIONS

Tentative plans for the first program setting-up conference to be attempted by the local council of the Boy Scouts of America are being formulated. The proposed conference will be held at Camp Miami near Yellow Springs, September 13 and 14.

Efforts will be made to obtain a large attendance at the conference of members of Tecumseh Council from Champaign, Clark, Clinton, Greene and Logan Counties, the executive board of the council, and all scoutmasters and their assistants as well as troop committee men and prospective scout leaders. The plans call for an extensive program to get the men who are scout leaders in closer touch with out-of-door activities of the Boy Scouts and at the same time draw up the program to be followed by the various troops of the council during 1930-31.

The conference will open in the afternoon of September 13 with assembly at the camp and preparations to stay overnight. The mess at 6:15 p. m. will be the first rallying place of the meeting, and group singing will be a factor at the meals as well as throughout the conference. The evening session at the camp will be a discussion of items to be included on the winter program and suggestions will be made by the scoutmasters for the benefit of the yearly program committee, which will draw up the definite program to be followed.

A campfire will include stunts by scouts and members of the 1930 Camp Miami staff as well as a minister to be directed by George D. Morrett, chairman of the camp committee. A talk on "Putting the 'Out' in Scouting," Overnight Hikes, Camping and Camp Savings Plans will be given by Perry A. Lint, regional scout executive.

The first event on the program for Sunday, September 14, at the conference will be religious services, which will be conducted by a local pastor, yet to be selected.

The other meetings of the group will be discussions and "Campastral Values," the leader for the former to be selected and H. S. Goodrich being selected to talk on the latter assisted by George Hopper, Carl Pramer and Fred Kaufman.

The conference will disband following the noon meal. All the meals during the conference will be prepared by Daley Nickens, camp chef of Camp Miami.

The Theater

When Jimmy Hibbert, owner of the Bijou Theater, decided to build a new amusement house in Xenia, he made up his mind also not to do the thing by halves.

As revealed in this paper, the plans for the new theater to be built on W. Main St., by Hibbert Theaters, Inc., call for one of the most attractive and comfortable small town theaters seen anywhere.

With first class pictures booked, Xenia patrons of the near future may sit comfortably in beautiful

For years Pearl Eaton, former New York stage revue director, now with RKO, has been seeking ideal show girl and at last she has found her.

The girl is Alice Adair, a sculptor's model, and she possesses every one of the rigid requirements set down by Miss Eaton for feminine physical perfection. First, Miss Adair is pretty. That is the dance director's first requirement. Second, she has an attractive personality and third, she is intelligent. For the rest, her figure is perfect, and if you want to know what that means girls, here are the figures:

EX-PUPIL OF HOME DEFENDS UNIFORM IN LETTER TO PAPER

In view of the fact the Ohio department of the American Legion, at its annual convention this week at Cincinnati, adopted a resolution suggesting that children admitted to the O. S. and S. O. Home in Xenia be dressed as civilian children instead of being attired in uniforms, the following letter from an ex-pupil of the institution, published in the Cincinnati Enquirer, is of timely interest:

To the Editor of The Enquirer:

Dear Sir: The Enquirer of August 20 reports that the American Legion at its last business session of the state convention, passed a resolution that the children of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home, located at Xenia, be clothed as other civilian children as at present. As one trained in the Legion and all others of like mind on that point, No child can be admitted to the Xenia Home unless his parent has an honorable discharge from some branch of the army or navy, and such a child's care and training has been fully paid for in advance by service and sacrifice—in some instances "the supreme sacrifice."

To some folks the Home uniform seems to convey a sense of the stigma of pauperism, or linking the Xenia Home with penal or correctional institutions. The Home uniform is a symbol of the service rendered state and nation by the "dads" of the children there, and anyone who even intimates stigma of any kind applies to Xenia Home children shows a sad lack of intelligence and patriotic appreciation. Is the Legion ashamed of the United States uniform? If not, why deny their own children the honor of wearing it? Are the students of any of the many military schools in this country ashamed to wear a uniform? The Home is—or should be, because of its nature and origin—a military school of the very highest character. Mere money pays the tuition in other military schools or homes. Think what the price of admission to the Xenia Home involves.

The Home was founded by the Grand Army of the Republic, which meets next week in what may be their last national convention. Since 1869 thousands of Home children have worn a copy of the national uniform and few indeed they have been who were not proud to have worn it. The Legion advocates peace by preparedness; let them be consistent and place the Xenia Home on a par with other military schools, including the uniform and the discipline and training that goes with it. So will they make better men and women of the children of their "buddies." We often hear quoted, "Times have changed," but neither the Legion nor the pacifist can make this writer ashamed of the Home uniform or the "dad" who wore its counterpart in 1861-65, when the very life of this united nation was in jeopardy.

AN EX-PUPIL OF THE HOME, Newport, Ky., August 21.

CARRIER PIGEON FOUND NEAR XENIA

ALBERT TRESSLAR DIES HERE FRIDAY FROM LONG ILLNESS

Alfred and Elmer Wolf, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wolf, living on R. R. No. 3, Xenia, north of Trebein, are hoping to trace the ownership of a pigeon which they caught Wednesday after it alighted on a barn on their farm. A band on the pigeon's right leg bore the number A1-27-R2482.

BODIES OF VICTIMS OF BALLOON FLIGHT RUSHED TO NORWAY

wegian expedition commanded by Dr. S. Horn chanced upon the remains of the last camp of the ill-starred party and found the bodies of the balloonists wrapped securely in their icy, transparent graves provided by nature on Hvitvoen Island between Spitzbergen and Fridtjof Nansen Land (Franz Josef Land) longitude 33, latitude 80.

Andree's diary with his scientific instruments and various bits of camp equipment graphically related the story of the daring venture from start to finish, according to reports, but Dr. Horn preferred to leave the precious articles as he found them until scientific treatment assures their preservation.

Between the pages of the diary crackled with age and cold, a scientific world hopes to learn a story of fascinating and dramatic movement.

Dr. Horn and his party discovered the boat, camping remains and bodies of the explorers several days ago, but because their expedition ship lacks wireless equipment, were unable to inform the world of the event until the fishing smack Terningen reached Norway with news of the discovery.

The bodies, two of them fully preserved and the third apparently moved by roving polar bears, were placed aboard the Bratvaag to be taken to Tromso, where the trip is scheduled to dock September 10.

Andree was accompanied on his balloon trip by K. Frankel and N. Strindberg, younger men. Apparently they met their end slowly, subsisting for a time on bear meat.

The last brief message received from the explorers came by carrier pigeon two days after the start of the flight and told of a "good journey northward." The balloon carried a month's food as well as tenting and camp equipment. When blank silence worried an anxious world weeks later, several rescue expeditions sought to penetrate the then untouched Arctic regions in search of the balloonists but failed in their gallant attempts.

On April 6, 1909, Admiral Robert E. Peary succeeded in reaching the North Pole. In 1926 Rear-Admiral R. E. Byrd soared over the coveted spot by airplane and three days later the Amundsen-Ellsworth dirigible expedition reached it, all without seeing a trace of the lost pioneers. General Umberto Nobile passed the pole in a dirigible in 1928 but his craft crashed on the return trip.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Miriam Shields, a student at Howard University, who was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink satin crepe and carried white bridal roses. Dr. L. B. McEachie of Newport News, acted as best man.

IT'S WISE TO  CHOOSE A SIX

Announcing a new production record

2,000,000 Chevrolet Sixes now on the road

Since January, 1929, Chevrolet has produced and sold over 2,000,000 six-cylinder automobiles—nearly five times as many as any other manufacturer has ever built in an equal length of time.

These 2,000,000 buyers have chosen Chevrolet because it offers many desirable qualities not obtainable in any other car so low in price—

—the smoothness, silence and flexibility of a modern six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—the greater comfort and roadability of a modern, full-length chassis—and the style, safety and distinction of bodies by Fisher.

Yet, despite these fine car advantages, the Chevrolet Six is unusually economical. Its gas, oil, tire and upkeep economy is unsurpassed. And any model can be bought for a small down payment and easy monthly terms! Come in today. Learn for yourself why two million buyers have agreed—"it's wise to choose a Six."

TWO KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION

INTENSIVE MANHUNT
STARTED FOR SLAYER
WHO MURDERED TWO

Two Radical Speakers
Slain; Resisted Ouster
Attempt

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—State, county and city police through entire tri-state district today joined in an intensive manhunt for Pietro Petretti, 35, who fled from the scene of a double slaying during a Sacco-Vanzetti anniversary demonstration at Avella, Washington County, last night.

George Harkoff, 35, of Cross Creek Twp., and Stephen Mina, 40, of Avella, who were said to have been making radical and inflammatory addresses to the impromptu gathering, were shot to death when a spattering of pistol fire burst suddenly from the jeering crowd.

Harkoff and Mina had mounted boxes to deliver their tirades, police say, and when Patrella joined in the boozing and catcalls from the crowd, the two speakers attempted to put him off the grounds.

During the heated quarrel that ensued, Patrella is alleged to have whipped out a pistol and fired three shots point blank at close range.

Both of the speakers slumped to the ground, instantly killed. All three of the shots took effect. Mina receiving a bullet in his heart and two of the leaden slugs tearing their way into Harkoff's head.

Before the assembled crowd, dumfounded with fear and horror, could recover from its confusion, Patrella is said to have slipped through the mob and made his escape. He was later traced to Brownstown, not far from the carnival grounds where the shooting occurred. Here, all trace was lost.

State and county police went to Patrella's home and conducted a search for the fleeing man. The search proved fruitless, so far as finding Patrella was concerned, but a quantity of alleged communistic literature, dynamite and blasting tools were confiscated, police reported.

Descriptions of Patrella were broadcast throughout Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia and police of the latter state were requested to be on the alert for his possible reappearance. Patrella was a former resident of West Virginia.

WEEK-END SHOWERS
WILL BRING RELIEF
FOR DROUGHT AREAS

Government Pushes Relief Measures; States
Busy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A thin blanket of showers over the eastern half of the drought-stricken area, with scattered rainfall in the Middle West, will bring further relief to parched farms and sun-baked countrysides over the weekend, it was announced today by the weather bureau.

Governmental agencies meanwhile continued their efforts to provide relief for drought sufferers, particularly in the cattle country, pending launching of cooperative relief measures by the president's drought relief committee and various state organizations. Six states, Virginia, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana and Iowa, have already organized their local committees and are ready to cooperate with the government.

The financial conference, to be held here Tuesday, will release approximately $100,000,000 in credit facilities to aid farmers during the remainder of the current season and in preparing for next year. Credit facilities will be handled through local or state credit corporations and the federal intermediate credit banks.

Pending this relief, the department of commerce was cooperating with local associations in moving beef cattle from parched lands to good pastures and in arranging supplies of feed for cattle in dairy states. The department announced that several thousand carloads of hay were available for shipment in drought areas in the Central West. Good supplies of timothy hay were reported in New York, northern Ohio, northern Indiana and Michigan, with good supplies of alfalfa hay in Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico and Arizona. Prairie hay, it was said, can also be secured in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The federal farm board has turned over a $5,000,000 fund to the National Livestock Association to be used in financing purchases of cattle feed. Local farmers in need of feed have been urged to get in touch with their local livestock associations.

The menace of forest fires, which destroyed millions of dollars of property at the height of the drought has again caused the department of agriculture to issue a special warning, after revealing that new fires were costing the government $19,000 a day to combat in various sections.

Cooling showers in much of the drought belt, it was added, has somewhat reduced the menace of fire but the situation was termed "critical" in the extreme west. Special guards have been stationed throughout the national forests but the public was warned to guard against carelessness that might result in raging fires.

SLAYER CONVICTED OF ROBBERY MURDER

CANTON, O., Aug. 23.—While James Romeo, 29, sat in county jail here today doomed to death in the electric chair for the murder of Charles N. Riblet, 65-year-old bank guard who was shot July 16 in a $60,000 bank messenger robbery, attorneys for the man were making preparations to file a motion for a new trial.

Romeo was found guilty by a jury of six men and six women yesterday on charges of shooting in perpetrating a robbery. The jury, which deliberated two hours and forty minutes, made no recommendation for mercy.

In 1897, before the Wright brothers built the model of their first clumsy flying machine, they soared aloft from Danes Island in tossing Oval gasbag, courageously hoping that the winds would carry them across the top of the world.

BABE NEEDS MORE THAN HOOVER

FAT PEOPLE AND THOSE DOING MUSCULAR WORK—USE UP MORE ENERGY—THAN THIN PEOPLE AND THOSE WHO WORK AT DESKS

How much food does a man need? Dr. Logan Clendening, noted Diet and Health column writer, says it all depends on the kind of work you do. President Hoover, he explains, may labor many more hours than Babe Ruth but the Babe needs more energy because he does twenty times as much muscular work. Paul Whiteman and Rudy Vallee go through much the same motions in leading an orchestra, yet when the rotund Paul walks up a flight of stairs he has to make greater drains upon his supply of energy since he has almost twice as much weight to lift.

Tripping the light fantastic toe is not necessarily fantastic—even at the age of 54, according to Frank Miller (above), who danced for 1,565 hours back in 1928 in Dayton, Ohio. Now Frank is somewhat disturbed at the championship claims of a

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER'S CARE.—Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows.—Matthew 10:29, 30, 31.

PROFITEERING

Authorities in New York state and city have taken prompt action to prevent profiteering in food supplies by dealers attempting to make money out of the drought scare. The price of milk in New York City was recently raised a cent a quart; and there was talk of the possibility of the "milk racket" boosting it another three cents. Vegetable and fruit prices were also showing restlessness, which foreshadowed higher levels. The attorney-general's department has invoked the state law against unfair methods in restraint of trade in order to investigate the situation.

The temptation to seize upon the least excuse to profiteer at the expense of the public seems irresistible to a certain type of mind. The alarming stories circulated earlier this month, about the effect of the dry spell on crops and live stock in a dozen or so states, were enough to start the more selfishly inclined food dealers in parts of the country to scheming how they could turn the situation to their own profit. As a matter of fact much of the alarm felt a few weeks ago has since been dissipated by improved weather conditions and a more accurate knowledge of the exact amount of damage done. There has been a serious crop loss in some states and diminished pasture has reduced the production of milk; but nothing has happened, according to the latest reports from Washington, which need materially alter food prices in the cities.

Consequently the attempt of food dealers to raise prices on the strength of a fictitious scarcity, as they seem to have done in New York, cannot be condemned too severely or broken up too quickly, wherever it is made. This sort of profiteering, which hits the poor harder than it does the rich, would be despicable enough at any time. At a time when unemployment is widespread and money tight, what at other times is merely selfish becomes brutal and inhuman.

IS JAZZ DOOMED?

Jazz steps are doomed, we are told by the president of the Dancing Masters of America, assembled in New York. Youth is tripping back to the classic and conservative in foot movements. Accompanying a revival of Victorian frills and furbelows, "a more restrained expression of the musical soul" of young America may be looked for on the ballroom floor of the future.

The prediction seems too good to be true. Any radical revolution in dancing styles must be preceded by something more fundamental than the dictum of dancing masters. They themselves are only the servants of popular whims. A people's dances are means of expressing the soul of the country and age in which it lives. The soul must change before the dances do. As long as we have jazz music, jazz drinking, jazz literature, jazz politics, jazz thinking, jazz speculating in the stock market, we shall have jazz dancing, which is merely the jazz spirit breaking out at the ankle. A malignant corn is as easily exorcised as the tickling aroused by jungle tom-toms in the feet of an undisciplined and iconoclastic generation.

Jazz dances, which are not true dances at all, are not to be condemned on the ground that they are demoralizing in the narrow and etymological sense of the word. They are no more "immoral" than some of the conservative dances. The real objection to them is that they are for the most part unesthetic and ugly and consequently fall short of that beauty of expression which is the sine qua non of the terpsichorean art. They are the product of an age that demands something that is new, whether it is beautiful or not. A revival of the stately dances of the past would proclaim the reversion of dancing America to a rational civilization, which we hope for in the future but do not yet see "just around the corner."

JUST A COLLEGE

Too bad that a college which is nothing but a seat of learning has to perish. Attention is called to the passing of Ewing College near Benton, Ill. The whole plant was recently offered for sale for $20,000, but there were no buyers. It was once advertised as "a place where students are not surrounded with distraction, temptation and vices." It never had more than 140 students. Perhaps there wasn't enough attention given to football. Perhaps there was nothing but the facilities for study. It had to go.

PRAYING WRONG

Much talk in the pulpit about the value of prayer, and not enough instruction in the manner of praying. Too many people pray to have the laws of nature and the moral laws set aside for their benefit. They won't want to pay the price. No one can escape the penalty for his acts, in some fashion or other, no matter how much he prays. Natural law is natural law and you can't get away from it.

LITTLE LIVES

Most of us live little, narrow, restricted lives. It is good to have our horizons pushed down sometimes. It is good to have somebody make us think in large terms. Says L. P. Jacks, able English teacher and preacher: "Nothing too bad to be incurable, nothing too good to be hoped for, nothing too high to be attempted, nothing so precious that we cannot afford to give it away."

WATCH THE CHINESE

Don't ever underestimate the Chinese. They are a powerful people. They move slowly; they never let up; they go far. Riley Allen, Honolulu newspaper man, tells us that in Hawaii the Chinese are "active and useful in civic affairs. In philanthropy they are generous givers." In architecture and engineering they are leaders. In athletics they produce the best baseball teams in the islands. In war they are brave.

BOYS AND HOUSEWORK

The new Abraham Lincoln high school in New York will give boys as well as girls training in household duties. Boys will be taught how to run vacuum cleaners and wash machines. Quite right. No man can be a good husband who doesn't know at least the rudiments of housekeeping. Too many husbands' ideas of housekeeping are restricted to skill in piling dirty dishes in the corner of the kitchen sink.

Quintillions of Money

What value is the German paper mark of Feb. 1, 1923?

The paper mark of that date is worthless. The mark collapsed in September, 1923, because of internal economic conditions in Germany. In December, 1923, the following number of marks were outstanding:

496,507,424,771,973,884,000.

World Religions

What religion has the most followers or believers?

Christianity, including Catholics, has 682,400,000 members, divided into 331,500,000 Roman Catholics, 144,000,000 Orthodox Catholics and 206,900,000 Protestants; Confucianists and Taoists have 350,600,000.

Quality, Not Quantity

Does the physical size of the heart have any relation to physical courage?

The lion has the smallest heart of all predatory animals. Philip II of Spain, one of the most cowardly tyrants in history, had the largest heart of any known man.

Radio Royalties

Do radio stations have to pay anything for allowing their staff artists to sing popular songs?

"Yes. The Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers of America, located at 1501 Broadway, New York City, has brought about a pooling of the copyrights on most published music. This society collects from radio stations for the authors, composers and publishers.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK.—Back in 1880—the year H. L. Mencken was born—New York discovered that Raymond street jail was unfit for use. The Mayor and his counsellors in those days said: "Something will have to be done about it."

Time rolled its ceaseless course. A half century slid down the Gрезed Chute that leads to Avenue. Raymond Street jail still exists, a crumbling, nasty, grim, degenerate pile. At the City Hall today they say: "Something will have to be done about it."

DERELICTS' PARADISE

IN NEW YORK, snoozing in the parks is verboten. It isn't a pretty sight to see a bunch of bums snoring away their existence in soul-clogging oblivion.

But when the weather gets very hot, the no-sleeping edict is brushed aside in favor of the denizens of Tenement Town. With the thermometer flirting around the century mark, sleep is impossible in these hell-holes.

The trouble is that when the men, women and kids from the tenements go trooping across to the parks they find the lawns preempted by the Weary Willies of the lodging houses.

Most of them spread newspapers to lie on. In the that-haze of early morning they awake, stumble wearily to their feet, miserable and disheveled, to handle breakfasts in greasy Coffee Pots.

Not one of them ever thinks of relieving the lawn of the newspapers he's lain on all night. Suppose the scattered sheets do mar the contour of the lawns? They've finished with 'em for the time being. It's now o'er their funeral. That's the sort of mental twist that chains these men to the ranks of the Derelicts.

THE HEAD THAT WEARS THE CROWN, 1930

PECULIAR NEBRASKA ELECTION CONTEST IS FORECAST ON THE SENATORIAL ISSUE

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Nebraska will have a peculiar election next November on the senatorial issue that is to say, as to the remainder of the offices to be filled it may be normal enough.

For senator, however, indications are that "Uncle" George W. Norris, running for re-election on the Republican ticket, will have the strongest appeal to Democrats who voted for Al Smith in 1928, while from all appearances Gilbert M. Hitchcock, the Democratic nominee, will get his best backing from the state's regular Republicans—due emphasis being placed on the adjective "regular."

It is not quite as funny a situation as it would have been if the Democrats had nominated Dr. Jennie Callifa, who bolted the Smith ticket two years ago, even as Uncle George bolted Herbert Hoover, but it is queer just the like.

(The idea, as explained to me, is that Senator Norris' defeat, even by an unsatisfactory Democrat, would be a body blow at "radicalism," probably in both parties.

Scaring the daylights out of that is to say, that the impression I get is that quite a lot of them show symptoms of casting their ballots for ex-Senator Hitchcock instead.

"Speed" Leopard Leading Softball Hitter

GEYER PLAYER WINS BATTING HONORS OF YEAR; BOASTS .513

BOY SCOUT PROGRAM WILL BE SELECTED AT CAMP SESSIONS

Davis Runner-Up; Bob Yeakley Has Most Home Runs

Walter "Speed" Leopard, member of Geyers, is the 1930 batting champion of the National Softball League with the extraordinarily high average of .513, complete averages for the season disclosed.

"Speed" was officially at bat thirty-seven times, scored fifteen runs and rapped out nineteen hits. During the current season he caught behind the plate at times, pitched at times and played first base at times. He even gave up playing altogether for a while and turned umpire, later re-joining Geyers and finishing the season.

"Happy" Davis, alternate first baseman for the champion Lang Chevrolets, was runner-up for batting honors with a mark of .500, and Leopard being the only two players who wound up in the .500 percentage classification.

A grand total of thirty-four players had seasonal averages above the .300 mark, based on the ruling of the softball commission that only the averages of those players who had been at bat officially at least twenty-five times, need be computed in the final standing.

Whether it was the atmosphere or a preponderance of good batters, it is worthy of note that the averages were a great deal higher than was the case last season.

In the two-base hit column, Lee Ruse, third-baseman for Langs was far and away ahead of all others, made home runs his specialty.

It is often the case, there were far fewer triples than doubles and homers; in fact, Harry "Atlas" Smith, first baseman for the Criterion, led in this department with only four three-baggers.

Bob Yeakley, outfielder for Geyers, made home runs his specialty and topped the league in this division with six circuit clouts.

Joe Smittle, second baseman for Langs, and Fred "Bulldog" Smith, third baseman for Geyers, shared honors as the most consistent scorers, each crossing the plate twenty-nine times. Smittle was officially at bat seventy-three times, more than any other player, and also made the most hits, thirty-two, followed by "Bulldog" with thirty-one bingles. Joe was also runner up to his teammate, Ruse, in doubles, with ten, and was second only to Yeakley in home runs, with five.

Figures on team batting averages must be inaccurate at best because the players were constantly shifting around from one team to another and their averages shifted with them. Transfer of a player sometimes elevated and sometimes lowered the team average of the club with which he affiliated himself.

Geyers was the hardest hitting team in the league with an average of .389 based on 577 times at bat and 225 hits, followed by Langs, the league champion, with a mark of .347, based on 641 times at bat and 223 hits. The disparity, however, was not as great as it sounds and the champs played better defensive ball.

Carroll-Binder's team average was .301, followed by the Graham Paints with .291, D. T. C. Club with .277 and Criterion with .269.

Harry Higgins, of Xenia, was a political visitor in town one day of the last week.

PAINFULLY HURT

Lee Rhoades who resides south of Jamestown, received painful injuries to his left arm Friday evening when it was dislocated. Mr. Rhoades was leading a cow to pasture and had a rope tied around the neck of the animal with the other end of the rope fastened around his arm. The cow became frightened and started to run, pulling the rope from Mr. Rhoades' arm. The injury was treated by Dr. R. L. Haines, Jamestown.

Contractor Ralph Hopkins is doing carpenter and cement work on the Fogarty farm.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER'S CARE.—Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows.—Matthew 10:29, 30, 31.

PROFITEERING

Authorities in New York state and city have taken prompt action to prevent profiteering in food supplies by dealers attempting to make money out of the drought scare. The price of milk in New York City was recently raised a cent a quart; and there was talk of the possibility of the "milk racket" boosting it another three cents. Vegetable and fruit prices were also showing a restlessness, which foreshadowed higher levels. The attorney-general's department has invoked the state law against unfair methods in restraint of trade in order to investigate the situation.

The temptation to seize upon the least excuse to profiteer at the expense of the public seems irresistible to a certain type of mind. The alarming stories circulated earlier this month, about the effect of the dry spell on crops and live stock in a dozen or so states, were enough to start the more selfishly inclined food dealers in parts of the country to scheming how they could turn the situation to their own profit. As a matter of fact much of the alarm felt a few weeks ago has since been dissipated by improved weather conditions and a more accurate knowledge of the exact amount of damage done. There has been a serious crop loss in some states and diminished pasture has reduced the production of milk; but nothing has happened, according to the latest reports from Washington, which need materially alter food prices in the cities.

Consequently the attempt of food dealers to raise prices on the strength of a fictitious scarcity, as they seem to have done in New York, cannot be condemned too severely or broken up too quickly, wherever it is made. This sort of profiteering, which hits the poor harder than it does the rich, would be despicable enough at any time. At a time when unemployment is widespread and money tight, what at other times is merely selfish becomes brutal and inhuman.

IS JAZZ DOOMED?

Jazz steps are doomed, we are told by the president of the Dancing Masters of America, assembled in New York. Youth is tripping back to the classic and conservative in foot movements. Accompanying a revival of Victorian frills and furbelows, "a more restrained expression of the musical soul" of young America may be looked for on the ballroom floor of the future.

The prediction seems too good to be true. Any radical revolution in dancing styles must be preceded by something more fundamental than the dictum of dancing masters. They themselves are only the servants of popular whims. A people's dances are means of expressing the soul of the country and age in which it lives. The soul must change before the dances do. As long as we have jazz music, jazz drinking, jazz literature, jazz politics, jazz thinking, jazz speculating in the stock market, we shall have jazz dancing, which is merely the jazz spirit breaking out at the ankle. A malignant corn is as easily exorcised as the tickling aroused by jungle tom-toms in the feet of an undisciplined and iconoclastic generation.

Jazz dances, which are not true dances at all, are not to be condemned on the ground that they are demoralizing in the narrow and etymological sense of the word. They are no more "immoral" than some of the conservative dances. The real objection to them is that they are for the most part unesthetic and ugly and consequently fall short of that beauty of expression which is the sine qua non of the terpsichorean art. They are the product of an age that demands something that is new, whether it is beautiful or not. A revival of the stately dances of the past would proclaim the reversion of dancing America to a rational civilization, which we hope for in the future but do not yet see "just around the corner."

JUST A COLLEGE

Too bad that a college which is nothing but a seat of learning has to perish. Attention is called to the passing of Ewing College near Benson, Ill. The whole plant was recently offered for sale for $20,000, but there were no buyers. It was once advertised as "a place where students are not surrounded with distraction, temptation and vices." It never had more than 140 students. Perhaps there wasn't enough attention given to football. Perhaps there was nothing but the facilities for study. It had to go.

PRAYING WRONG

Much talk in the pulpit about the value of prayer, and not enough instruction in the manner of praying. Too many people pray to have the laws of nature and the moral laws set aside for their benefit. They won't want to pay the price. No one can escape the penalty for his acts, in some fashion or other, no matter how much he prays. Natural law is natural law and you can't get away from it.

LITTLE LIVES

Most of us live little, narrow, restricted lives. It is good to have our horizons pushed down sometimes. It is good to have somebody make us think in large terms. Says L. P. Jacks, able English teacher and preacher: "Nothing too bad to be incurable, nothing too good to be hoped for, nothing too high to be attempted, nothing so precious that we cannot afford to give it away."

WATCH THE CHINESE

Don't ever underestimate the Chinese. They are a powerful people. They move slowly; they never let up; they go far. Riley Allen, Honolulu newspaper man, tells us that in Hawaii the Chinese are "active and useful in civic affairs. In philanthropy they are generous givers." In architecture and engineering they are leaders. In athletics they produce the best baseball teams in the islands. In war they are brave.

BOYS AND HOUSEWORK

The new Abraham Lincoln high school in New York will give boys as well as girls training in household duties. Boys will be taught how to run vacuum cleaners and washing machines. Quite right. No man can be a good husband who doesn't know at least the rudiments of housekeeping. Too many husbands' ideas of housekeeping are restricted to skill in piling dirty dishes in the corner of the kitchen sink.

Quintillions of Money

What value is the German paper mark of Feb. 1, 1923?

The paper mark of that date is worthless. The mark collapsed in September, 1923, because of internal economic conditions in Germany. In December, 1923, the following number of marks were outstanding:

496,507,424,771,973,884,000.

World Religions

What religion has the most followers or believers?

Christianity, including Catholics, has 682,400,000 members, divided into 331,500,000 Roman Catholics and 244,000,000 Orthodox Catholics and 206,900,000 Protestants; Confucianists and Taoists have 350,600,000.

Quality, Not Quantity

Does the physical size of the heart have any relation to physical courage?

The lion has the smallest heart of all predatory animals. Philip II of Spain, one of the most cowardly tyrants in history, had the largest heart of any known man.

Radio Royalties

Do radio stations have to pay anything for allowing their staff artists to sing popular songs?

"Yes. The Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers of America, located at 1501 Broadway, New York City, has brought about a pooling of the copyrights on most published music. This society collects from radio stations for the authors, composers and publishers.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK.—Back in 1880—the year H. L. Mencken was born—New York discovered that Raymond street jail was unfit for use. The Mayor and his counsellors in those days said: "Something will have to be done about it."

Time rolled its ceaseless course. A half century slid down the Greased Chute that leads to Avenue Raymond Street jail still exists, a crumbling, nasty, grim, degenerate pile. At the City Hall today they say: "Something will have to be done about it."

DERELICTS' PARADISE

IN NEW YORK, snoozing in the parks is verboten. It isn't a pretty sight to see a bunch of bums snoring away their existence in soul-clogging oblivion.

But when the weather gets very hot, the no-sleeping edict is brushed aside in favor of the denizens of Tenement Town. With the thermometer flirting around the century mark, sleep is impossible in these hell-holes.

The trouble is that when the men, women and kids from the tenements go trooping across to the parks they find the lawns preempted by the Weary Willies of the lodging houses.

Most of them spread newspapers to lie on. In the heat-haze of early morning they awake, stumble wearily to their feet, miserable and disheveled, to panhandle breakfasts in greasy coffee pots.

Not one of them ever thinks of relieving the lawn of the newspapers he's lain on all night. Suppose the scattered sheets do mar the contour of the lawns? They've finished with 'em for the time being. It's none of their funeral. That's the sort of mental twist that chains these men to the ranks of the Derelicts.

PECULIAR NEBRASKA ELECTION CONTEST IS FORECAST ON THE SENATORIAL ISSUE

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Nebraska will have a peculiar election next November on the senatorial issue, that is to say; as to the remainder of the offices to be filled it may be normal enough.

For senator, however, indications are that "Uncle" George W. Norris, running for re-election on the Republican ticket, will have the strongest appeal to Democrats who voted for Al Smith in 1928, while all the appearances Gilbert M. Hitchcock, the Democratic nominee, will get his best backing from the state's regular Republicans—due emphasis being placed on the adjective "regular."

It is not quite as funny a situation as it would have been if the Democrats had nominated Dr. Jennie Califas, who bolted the Smith ticket two years ago, even as Uncle George bolted Herbert Hoover, but it is queer just the same.

The idea, as explained to me, is that Senator Norris' defeat, even by an unsatisfactory Democrat, would be a body blow at "radicalism," probably in both parties, scaring the daylights out of that kind of senators and representatives generally, and thus strengthening the conservatives' position in the long run, regardless of the individual candidate who might instead.

Mexican Beef Roll

Creamed Celery Cabbage Salad

Apple Pancakes Coffee

This meat roll combines the elements of the usual meat and potato and is a change from them, and a savory one at that. Apple pie might be substituted for the pancakes, so that the oven could be used for both.

Celery, especially the outer stalks, are apt to be a bit tough these days, so boil them until tender, then cream. They are healthy and delicious.

Today's Recipes

Mexican Beef Roll—Boil one-half cup rice, drain and add one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon chili powder, one teaspoon poultry seasoning, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one finely minced onion, one finely minced green pepper. Spread evenly over one and one-half pounds round steak, cut very thin, and roll up like a thick jelly roll. Tie and skewer firmly in place, so that the meat will not fall apart.

Apple Pancakes—For the apple pancakes, merely add chopped peeled apples to the basic griddle batter and fry slowly on a hot greased griddle. Spread each one as cooked with softened maple sugar and ground cinnamon.

Spicy Meat Loaf—Two pounds

beef ground, three-fourths cup steak, ground, two small onions, two cups soft bread crumbs, one tablespoon salt, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, two eggs, one-fourth cup horseradish, one teaspoon dried mustard, one-fourth cup chopped green pepper, one cup meat stock

three-fourths cup tomato catsup

Mix ingredients together in order named, except the catsup. Shape into a loaf, place in a greased pan, pour catsup over the top and bake</p

GEYER PLAYER WINS BATTING HONORS OF
YEAR; BOASTS .513

Davis Runner-Up; Bob
Yeakley Has Most Home Runs

The Softball Commission wishes it clearly understood that women and also children of high school age and under are exempt from the admission of ten cents to be charged for each game of the post-season series between a newly selected all-star team and the winner of the city series between the Lang Chevrolets and Krippendorf.

The city series starts Monday night and will be a two-out-of-three game affair, while the post-season series of the best three out of five games will start next Friday.

No admission will of course be charged for the Lank-Krippendorf games.

Paul Boxwell, pitcher for Geyers, led the National League in batting last season with an average of .472, wound up in eighth place this year with a mark of .433.

"Speed" Leopard, member of the same team, this year's batting champ, pounded the ball at a .377 rate in 1929.

A marked upward trend in the power of the batter in the National League is given striking evidence in the 1930 records. The batters certainly asserted themselves this season. Last year there were only three batters in the .400 class and twenty-three above the .300 mark.

This season, not only did two batters boast averages better than .500, but there were eleven ".400" hitters and twenty-one in the .300 classification.

It is often the case, there were far fewer triples than doubles and homers; in fact, Harry "Atlas" Smith, first baseman for the Criterion, led in this department with only four three-baggers.

Bob Yeakley, outfielder for Geyers, made home runs his specialty and topped the league in this division with six circuit clouts.

Joe Smittle, second baseman for Langs, and Fred "Bulldog" Smith, third baseman for Geyers, shared honors as the most consistent scorers, each crossing the plate twenty-nine times. Smittle was officially at bat seventy-three times, more than any other player, and also made the most hits, thirty-two, followed by "Bulldog" with thirty-one bingles. Joe was also runner up to his teammate, Ruse, in doubles, with ten, and was second only to Yeakley in home runs, with five.

Figures on team batting averages must be inaccurate at best because the players were constantly shifting around from one team to another and their averages shifted with them. Transfer of a player sometimes elevated and sometimes lowered the team average of the club with which he affiliated himself.

Geyers was the hardest hitting team in the league with an average of .389 based on 577 times at bat and 225 hits, followed by Langs, the league champion, with a mark of .347, based on 641 times at bat and 223 hits. The disparity, however, was not as great as it sounds and the champs played better defensive ball.

Carroll-Binder's team average was .301, followed by the Graham Paints with .291, D. T. C. Club with .277 and Criterion with .269.

The Theater

When Jimmy Hibbert, owner of the Bijou Theater, decided to build a new amusement house in Xenia, he made up his mind also not to do the thing by halves. A show girl, Miss Eaton explains, must not be less than five feet, five and one-half inches tall, because otherwise she would look pudgy in the clothes this type of chorus girl must wear. A show girl, the dance director would have one bear in mind, is not a dancer, but a girl who wears elaborate costumes as she waltzes sedately across the stage.

"A long time ago I set my standards for what I think the perfect show girl," said Miss Eaton "but Alice Adair is the first girl who could ever meet them."

Despite her father's objections Helen Cohan, 19-year-old daughter of George M. Cohan, the noted New York producer and actor, has decided to go into motion pictures. After making her own way to Hollywood several months she has been given her first screen role.

Twenty Years '10- Ago -'30

Twenty-six of Xenia's leading business and professional men have organized a quoit club conducting daily tournaments in the rear of the Johnson and Dean undertaking office. Mr. W. L. Marshall, the Xenia race starter, will act in that capacity at the Fayette County Fair this week. Mr. V. G. Hemphill, Cincinnati, member of the firm of Sayre and Hemphill, is spending a day or two in Xenia. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Maxwell left for Duluth, Minn., and will be gone until November 1.

Surroundings and enjoy the latest fashions under ideal circumstances. His department, dedicated, as it is, to the theater, wishes Mr. Hibbert and his associates success in their undertaking.

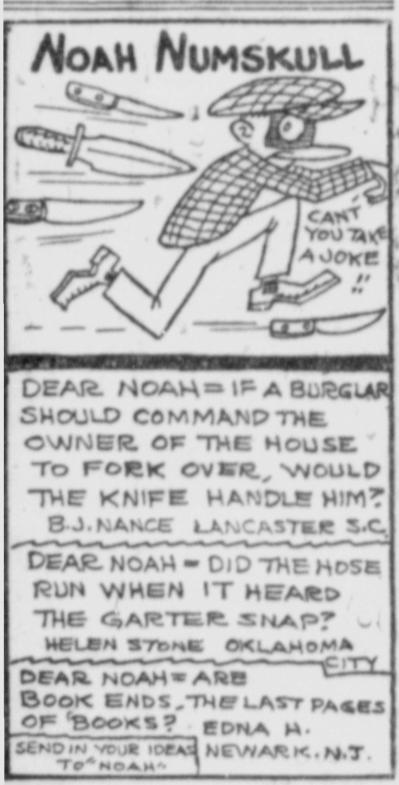

For years Pearl Eaton, former New York stage revue director, now with RKO, has been seeking an ideal show girl and at last she is found her.

The girl is Alice Adair, a sculptor's model, and she possesses every one of the rigid requirements set down by Miss Eaton for feminine physical perfection. First, Alice Adair is pretty. That is theince director's first requirement, second, she has an attractive personality, and third, she is intelligent. For the rest, her figure is perfect, and if you want to know what that means girls, here are the figures: eight-5 feet, 5½ inches. weight-116 pounds. bust-33 inches. waist-26 inches. hips-32 inches. height-20 inches. bust-18½ inches. waist-13½ inches. hips-8 inches. height-12½ inches.
